

GROWERS DEMAND WAREHOUSES CLOSE

Demonstration Made At Owensboro Thursday As Protest Against Low Prices

(By Associated Press) Owensboro, Dec. 10.—Davies county farmers are organizing today and preparing for meetings tonight in almost every school house in the county to appoint delegates to a mass meeting here tomorrow for the purpose of taking further action in their fight against falling tobacco prices.

The growers lost the first round yesterday when the six loose leaf warehouses here refused to close for 10 days.

Owensboro, Ky., Dec. 10.—One thousand tobacco growers marched in separate bodies at the noon hour Thursday to the six loose leaf houses in this city following a two-hours meeting at the court house and demanded of the managers that they close their houses and refuse to receive any more tobacco until conditions warrant the paying of better prices for the weed.

In this county tobacco is selling lower than at any time since 1915, and the farmers are very much aroused and the excitement is running high here. Growers are attempting to effect an organization to care for the 1920 crop and on this account efforts are being made to prevent warehouses from selling any more tobacco.

Managers of houses were to hold a conference this afternoon. Such excitement as prevailed in Owensboro yesterday afternoon had not been witnessed in years. Farmers crowded the streets as if on circus day.

The loose leaf men met in a warehouse and discussed what action they would take. The farmers desire that the warehouses close until they can effect some sort of an organization to handle the crops. They feel that they cannot keep all growers out of the market until such an organization is formed. Last year they were getting $15 to $25 a hundred for leaf which now brings $3 to $5.

Meetings have been called for every school house in Davies county for Friday night, when delegates will be appointed to attend another mass meeting here Saturday afternoon.

Because of the absence of violence the name "day riders" has been applied to the tobacco growers leading the movement.

CITY ACCEPTS FINAL STREET UNITS

Council Passes Last Ordinances Upon Improvements—Crecelius Commended

Final councilmanic action upon acceptance of Richmond's splendid new asphalt paved streets was taken at a meeting of the City Fathers Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Ordinances were passed finally accepting the last units of this great improvement.

Mayor Evans made a statement to the council of the final financial aspect of the street and sewer improvement which pleased all. It showed that after appropriating $7,500 out of the general fund, the cost of the entire work had only exceeded by $893.

The Mayor's statement shows that for the present the city may have to pay about $1,500 for the federal government's part of the street improvement in front of the postoffice building.

Councilman Gilbert will introduce a bill in congress, the Mayor said, to reimburse the city, which is the course such will have to take.

The Mayor informally expressed his appreciation of the splendid work done by the Council, the Citizens' Executive Committee and Col. Crecelius. He declared they had all worked hard and faithfully for the best interests of the city and the taxpayers.

Councilman Robert Golden expressed the same views. He said that Col. Crecelius had done a wonderful work and he knew what he was talking about. He paid high tribute to him as a man and an engineer.

Councilman Allman declared that Mr. Golden undoubtedly expressed the sentiment of the other councilmen and the people generally. Councilman said the same thing and lauded Col. Crecelius' and his work.

The Mayor called attention to the fact that the city had saved something like $20,000 because the State Bank and Trust Co., had been progressive enough to finance the street work. He said that Danville had been forced to pay out that much more because no bank there had been willing to do so. He also said some nice things about the support that the Daily Register had given the improvement work. The editor of the Daily Register who was present said that this had been done because he had seen that the Mayor, the Councilmen, the Citizens' Committee and Col. Crecelius were honestly and faithfully working for the interests of the people they represented and for the good of the city. He said that the newspaper would have published just quickly anything that he might have seen that looked like the people were not getting a square deal all round. He said it was a real pleasure to be able to say that he believed that never had a group of public officials worked more faithfully and honestly for the best interests of a community than these men.

A slight protest was made by Edwin Powell of the collecting of water in front of his property on East Main street and Col. Crecelius was instructed to see that a drain pipe was put in at the right place to take care of such a situation.

City Physician J. W. Scudder was granted leave of absence as he will go to Florida again for a stay. Dr. B. H. Gibson will have charge of his work while he is away.

No Scale Decision Yet

While a committee has been deciding where to re-install the city scales which were taken away some time ago during the street paving, there has been no report as yet, but this is expected soon and the scales will be replaced. It is very probable, according to reports that they will be placed at or near the corner of First and Irvine streets.

3 MEN TAKEN FROM JAIL AND LYNCHED

Hanged In Cemetery By Mob Which Overpowered Officers At Santa Rosa, Cal.

(By Associated Press) Santa Rosa, Cal., Dec. 10.—A mob entered the county jail here early today and took George Boyd, Terrence Fitts and Charles Valento, accused of killing Sheriff Petray and Detectives Miles Jackson and Lester Forman here Sunday afternoon, and hanged them to a tree in the cemetery, three blocks beyond the city limits.

Within five minutes the mob had entered the jail, overpowered the officers and removed the prisoners and within 15 minutes the prisoners were lynched. For another 15 minutes the mob waited at the scene of the hanging while the bodies dangled from the tree in the glare of automobile headlights, to make certain the work was complete. Then the members departed.

The mob members moved on the jail quickly. A dozen men out of about 100, all masked, approached the jail door. Six entered, covered Sheriff Boyes and four deputies with guns, took the keys to the cells of the three men, ushered them in their underwear to waiting automobiles and the procession then moved to a spot selected for the executions. Ropes were already in place and the men were strung up.

The three victims were slated to face the courts today on charges of murder. Boyd confessed he killed the officers when they attempted to arrest himself and his companions as members of a gang which recently attacked a number of young women in San Francisco.

M'BRAYER MOORE REPORTED SHOT

ALLEGED MADISON SUICIDES IN N. Y.

An Associated Press dispatch to the morning papers said: Miss Betsy Tevis 18 years old, Madison, Ky., committed suicide at her sister's home here today by shooting herself through the heart. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Tevis and had been living here with her sister, Mrs. Joseph Talbert since last winter.

So far as can be learned, there is no family connection of the girl named above in Madison county and the supposition is that she is from some small town by the name of Madison in this state somewhere.

ROBBERS LOOT HUSTONVILLE BANK

(By Associated Press) Danville, Dec. 10.—Burglars last night entered the First National Bank at Hustonville, Lincoln county, 12 miles south of here, forced the door to the safety deposit vault and carried away every safety deposit box. An unsuccessful attempt was made to force the main door to the money vault. An operator in the telephone office attempted to summon help but found the wires cut. The robbers escaped in automobiles. The losses to the safety deposit box holders will not be known until checked up.

SNEAK THIEF LEFT SHAWL UPON ROOF

What is believed to have been a porch climber, a second story worker and sneak thief generally came out loser at the home of C. B. Roberts on First street, near Irvine street, when, Wednesday night or early Thursday morning, he made a hurried exit from the rear of the home, leaving behind a good shawl, evidently used for the purpose of shielding his facial features. The shawl will be kept as a souvenir of the visit of the unwelcome visitor, who was apparently frightened away by Mrs. Roberts, who was awakened during the night by an unusual noise at the rear of the home. She turned on a light and it was at this juncture the thief is believed to have made his hurried getaway, leaving the shawl. The latter was found at the rear of the home, on the roof of a small building upon which the intruder had climbed, bent upon gaining entrance to the sleeping apartments nearby. There was no other clue.

KENTUCKY FOWLS GAIN REPUTATION

State Becoming Famous In East As Producer of Best That Reaches The Market

W. H. Adams, residing southwest of the city, brought to Richmond a load of pure blood Plymouth Rock chickens, which he offered for sale, and there was a lively time during which the chickens were disposed of. Some were sold in pairs and others single. The chickens, some of the most attractive seen on the local market, for some time, brought from $2 to $4 apiece, and as high as $6 a pair. They were bought principally by local people, who expressed their intention of raising more chickens of a good breed. Some who have been following other strains, decided to change and enter this strain and make a specialty of this.

Madison county chicken raising is becoming more extensive every year, according to wholesalers and buyers generally, but, they add, the producers are leaning toward the blooded variety and making a specialty of fine chickens, with the result that the "vagabond" or mixed chicken is not so plentiful, which is generally gathered up by wholesalers.

"They are raising the better strain of chickens and are getting better money for their work," said one of the buyers. When asked as to the truth of the statement, Mr. Adams replied: "The better the strain, the better the price. You can realize more money on less chickens that way than otherwise."

There are many chickens being raised within the confines of the city which are attracting attention throughout the county. The chickens are said to lay better, and higher prices are being realized for the eggs, as well as the chickens.

The various fairs during the past summer indicate that Madison is well up in this column, some of the state as well as many of the county prizes coming to this city. Berea and other small towns in the county are contributing steadily and very extensively to the quality of chickens which are attracting the attention of both fanciers and dealers in many distant states.

The effect of this is noticeable in the east, especially in Boston, Philadelphia, as well as New York, where there is always a demand for Kentucky-raised chickens. "One dealer and a number of shippers," one railroad man when speaking of the Kentucky grade of chickens generally shipped to the east, said: "represented other fowls as having come from this state, with the result that some of the eastern buyers have to be shown," and will not be content until they see the shipping tags." This is an enviable reputation which is becoming greater each year, due entirely to the fact that the quality of chickens is being improved by the improvement strain, and the "specializing" in fowls upon the part of many.

TEACHERS' MONEY COMES SATURDAY

(By Associated Press) Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 10.—The monthly installment of state school funds payable to the counties will go to the schools tomorrow in the form of treasurer's checks instead of warrants bearing 5 per cent interest as was the case in November, it was announced at the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction Colvin today. Receipt of taxes from sheriffs of the various counties has replenished the treasury it was stated.

Kentucky assists the schools by payment of approximately $650,000 monthly. The aid fund is paid in six equal monthly installments and aggregates $6.10 for each child of school age in the various districts. The minimum school term under the Kentucky law is six months.

This year, according to J. F. Taylor, assistant to State Superintendent Colvin, the counties are paying a much larger proportion of the salaries of teachers than ever before. Prior to this time, he said, virtually all of the salaries of the teachers in the country schools came from the state. This year the average increase in pay was about 50 per cent, except in the cities, and all of this is paid by special taxation in the districts.

Christmas Eve on Paint Rock

By C. M. MORRISON.

Funny what an idea will do to a bunch of folks! Take down in the Paint Rock neighborhood as an illustration. It is, or used to be, backwoods all right, but you can hardly call it that any more. Anyway, it is about "two wnoops and a holler" over the ridge. Another name the natives had for it around here was "Happy Hollow," so called mostly because it looked like it was anything but happy.

Mostly log houses over there, and it's a solemn fact that a good many of them had stick and clay chimneys and were daubed with plain yellow mud. Half grown youngsters there went barefoot right through corn, gathering and up till hog-killing time. Old Paint Rock was always a pretty good market for "blockade whisky," and it was even whispered around that they made a pretty good article of "white mule" in the neighborhood somewhere.

It isn't much wonder that the "war drives" paid mighty little attention to these folks and yet they were as good Americans as you ever saw. None of that dodging the draft stuff went with them. They went and they went with a whoop. But their attitude seemed to be that while they would take care of the fighting somebody else would have to raise the money.

Most of them were good workers, too, but they had mighty little. They saved next to nothing. "Thrifty" was a word that you didn't hear in the Paint Rock country down "Happy Hollow" way. They worked over here on this side on the farms, but they simply never had $50 at a time. And they weren't used to the installment plan of doing business. When the Paint Rock man had finished a day's work it was a case of "pay me now" with him when sun-down came.

Just how the War Savings Stamps idea ever got into Happy Hollow is a mystery. Doubtless the first citizen who got it took it as curiosity. It must have been at that. More or less exactly money, you know. More of a sort of a promise to pay, you see. But somehow the idea of getting together four dollars and some odd cents and loaning it to the government away off yonder at Washington, made a hit.

It undeniably did. The promise of Uncle Sam to pay $5 in cash on a given date sort of fascinated the Paint Rockers. You see, all their lives they had been owing the other fellow or the government or somebody money, and this other-way-around thing pleased and interested them. They began reading the circulars about the War Savings Stamps and pestering the nearest postmaster about them. Before they knew it they had been formed into a War Savings Society.

First thing you knew a Paint Rocker's social standing was being determined by the number of "Baby Bonds" that he had or was thought to have. That Savings Society is still doing business and gathering in a new member now and then. Folks over there like to stack another stamp on top of the ones they already have. A few of them are even beginning to eye the "Certificates" now and again.

Christmas had always been a pretty hectic and frolicsome time over in the "Hollow." But the last time, instead of gathering into a band that wandered out of the valley to disturb other folks on Christmas Eve, Paint Rock had a funny kind of a Christmas Eve celebration. It was a Christmas tree with a W. S. S. chapter to it. They held it in the little old school house that stands on the hill above the creek.

The dragged a big tree out of the woods and down one hill and up another and set it up. Of course all the presents that they hung on the tree were not "Baby Bonds," but you would have been surprised if you had kept tab, to see how many of them were.

It would have been a little out of the ordinary anywhere, but over on Paint Rock that kind of a Christmas tree was little short of revolutionary to folks who remembered the rain, tar'n' old-time Christmas that the "Happy Hollow" folks had always celebrated.

It was the accepted thing to make somebody else in the family a present of a War Savings Stamp. And the big boots and the weather beaten hands of the old-time Paint Rockers made the rafters ring when some youngsters came marching up the aisle in response to his name and went back red faced and pleased looking with one on the government's promises to pay.

It looked like everybody understood that every "bond" that had been bought and given away was adding to the sum total of the wealth and respectability of a little community that had never gone in very strong for saving of any kind—no matter whether it was "daylight" soap, grease or what not.

It has all had the effect of making the Paint Rock folks understand what the government means to them and what they mean to the government. They feel like they are a part of the machinery of the nation now, and that they have a real interest in it, outside of paying taxes and voting when election day comes around. And you can't fool with thrift in one way without it getting a hold on you in other ways. Anyway, "Happy Hollow" is more prosperous now than ever before and it is getting more so right along.

Jack and Jill went up the hill
Of life, without a falter.
They reached the top safe and sound.
Why? Success built on Thrift don't

PIKE COUNTY PLUNGING.

Champ Clark's Home Region Refuses to Hearken to Siren Song of Get-Rich-Quick Man.

Pike county, Missouri, a bit of territory that was known all over the world even before Champ Clark added lustre to the famed Missouri county, is not to be seduced by the siren song of the oil speculator and other get-rich-quick men.

At Clarksville, Mo., one family on August 16th took a plunge in the securities offered by the most reliable vendor of such paper in all the world, our Uncle Samuel. Through the postmaster, E. H. Moran, this family subscribed for $4000 worth of the United States Treasury Savings Certificates and sent a certified check for the amount. The certificates were issued in the names of Arthur C. Mrs. Maggie M. Malinda E. and A. C. Reneau Junior.

Just a few days before the Reneau purchase, Champ Clark, at his home in Bowling Green, Pike county, wrote the following characteristic letter to R. R. Smith, Government Director Savings Division, Treasury Department, in St. Louis:

"Notwithstanding Liberty Bonds have sagged down rather badly, for a man who can keep them in the best possible security, I prove my faith by my works, because most of what little property I have is in United States bonds."

FEDERAL PRISONERS

TO MAKE RESOLUTIONS

Soon after the first of the year there will be a decided decrease in prisoners at the county jail as a result of about 15 federal prisoners having served their sentences of 60 days. Some of the men are restless and yearn for the open. There will be some resolutions made, it is said, the first of the year. The prisoners are said to be unanimous in declaring they have been well treated, even by the court and are receiving good treatment in jail. Some of the men are barely of age and several of them say that they are going to engage in something less hazardous than moon-shining or bootlegging when they are free once more.

Do You Enjoy Your Meals?

If you do not enjoy your meals your digestion is faulty. Eat moderately, especially of meats, masticate your food thoroughly. Let five hours elapse between meals and take one of Chamberlain's Tablets immediately after supper and you will soon find your meals to be a real pleasure.

The Range Eternal

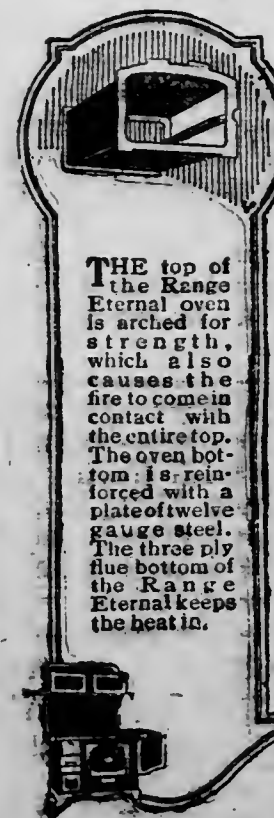

A "Sealed Oven" that Insures Perfect Baking

YOUR baking won't be right if your oven isn't right. And the right oven for right baking is in the Range Eternal. The men who build the Range Eternal know what a range should do—and the Range Eternal will perform every range duty better than any other range will. Better bread—cake—pies—meat—every cooking operation will be better if you have a Range Eternal. The Range Eternal will last longer than a lifetime—your children will use it in years to come. It's built strong to last long, and the

make it truly the Range Eternal. The flues of the Range Eternal are made of Eternametal—the metal that lasts forever. It won't burn out, nor rust out, nor wear out. Another big feature is the

Parker Process Rust Proof Top

The Parker Process makes the top of the Range Eternal rust proof. It is not a coating that wears off but a chemical treatment that enters right into the metal and keeps rust away.

Call at our store and ask us to show you the Range Eternal. We will show you the thirty-two steps up to Range Eternal perfection and tell you why this is the range you should buy.

OUTLOOK ON THE FARM.

Crops Better Than the Most sanguine Hoped for and Prices for Goods No Longer Are Receding.

Now that the late rains have made the Missouri corn crop at least one hundred per cent better than appeared possible a month ago, and the pastures are renewed, and the general outlook greatly improved, farmers and other citizens are confronted with a problem that did not worry them a while back.

Then it appeared there would be no surplus and just where to put their money was the least of their worries. But now that crop prospects are all to the good, and it looks as though a neat balance would be the result all along the line, the question of investment crops up every day.

With the high prices that prevail for wire fencing, for farm machinery, and for everything the farmer needs, he is questioning the advisability of laying out all his ready money for improvements. He knows that prices are going to recede. He can tell that because the price of sugar has already begun to sag, and that the prices of cotton goods have begun to shrink. He can also tell it because the prices of hogs and cattle is not what it was a year ago.

Many wise farmers figure that the best thing they can do is to hold on to their money, or put it in liquid shape. The farmer reads the papers more now than he used to, and he knows that Liberty Bonds at the present market price are just about as good a place as he can find to put his money. He can buy at a discount now, help to stiffen up the market, and when prices recede if he wants to he can sell his bonds at a higher price than he paid and get more than twice the value for his money if he spent it now on the high priced commodities.

Or he knows he can invest in Treasury Savings Certificates, which are Uncle Sam's ten-day note. He can get the money, plus interest, on ten days' notice, and be sure that his money is in reach at all times, and get back more than he invested.

SOME HUNTER THIS.

Kentuckian Crept So Stealthily Through Forest That Sleeping Deer Was Not Awakened When Hunter Felt of Him.

That hunter who in the early days emigrated from Kentucky and located in Warren County, Mo., was some expert when it came to stalking deer.

"Of course, I don't recall it myself," says Walter Lavender, cashier of the Exchange Bank at Jonesburg, "but my grandfather used to tell about this mighty hunter."

"In the fall, when the ground was covered with dried leaves, which in the quiet forests would rustle loudly from the slightest touch, this old Kentuckian would creep over the leaves, and his deer asleep in a thick copse, and reach out his hand and give the sleeping deer the once over."

"If the deer was fat, the hunter would frighten the animal and shoot him when he sought safety in flight. If the deer was poor it was left sleeping in peace."

Thrift and caution were thus combined, said Lavender. If people were only as cautious now in making investments there would be many better off. It behooves one to feel of any investment offered. Liberty Bonds at the present market price should be mighty tempting to most any investor nowadays. The interest is dead sure and when bought now earns a sum much greater than any one ever dreamed U. S. securities, the best on earth, would ever bring.

ALTON PARK, TENN.—"Dr. Pierce's medicines have been used a great deal in my family with the very best of results. I had a girl that had chronic bronchitis and I never found anything that would give her relief until I began giving her Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it gave her more real help than all other medicines put together. I have taken 'Golden Medical Discovery' for stomach trouble and it was excellent for this ailment; it purifies one's blood and seems to act upon, and build up one's whole system in a good, healthy state. 'Golden Medical Discovery' is a splendid family medicine and I take pleasure in recommending it."—Mrs. J. A. BEAN, 1503 Highland Avenue.

Mr. Powell says "Re-Cu-Ma is the best medicine I ever saw. I was troubled with indigestion. I could not eat with any comfort. Then I tried one bottle of Re-Cu-Ma and it has done me much good. I can now eat as I wish without any inconvenience. I used to be very hungry and anxious for meals, but everything I ate made me sick and I could not retain it on my stomach more than an hour or so."

Re-Cu-Ma is sold in Richmond by the Richmond Drug Store and all good druggists. It is sold under an absolute four-day offer which means that you try Re-Cu-Ma with the understanding that if at the end of four days you do not show material improvement you can take the bottle of Re-Cu-Ma back to the druggist and he will give you every cent you paid for it. There couldn't be a fairer offer. If you are suffering take advantage of it.

An Ohio Electric Cleaner for Christmas gives your wife time to be your pal

IS YOUR wife tied down so tight to the grind of keeping her home clean that she doesn't have time to play with you or with her children? Does she look tired, and is her health really good? Does she look, at times, just a little wistful, instead of fresh and gay?

An Ohio Electric Cleaner is a time saver and health saver, and because it saves time and health, it brings happiness to the whole family. It gives her time to be a playmate to her children. It gives her time to be your pal, when, on a winter afternoon with your work at the office and your wife's work of cleaning the house all forgotten, you are free to go skating together, or dancing, or to parties.

And an Ohio will satisfy your wife's instinct for cleanliness. It makes it possible for her to have a house that is spotlessly clean without sacrificing her time and her health to keep it so. The one, first job of the Ohio Electric Cleaner is to clean, and it does clean absolutely and thoroughly everything in the house. A demonstration in your own home will prove it to you.

The motor automatically starts when you lower the handle into natural sweeping position

The automatic switch

An automatic switch stops and starts the motor of the Ohio Electric Cleaner according to the position of the handle. When the handle is in the natural sweeping position, the motor starts. When you put the handle in an upright position, a catch holds it there securely, and the motor stops. It is the simplest, most natural way of doing it, and it prevents any possibility of burning the hand from the short circuiting of a frayed electric cord.

A friction brush

The Ohio Electric Cleaner works on the one principle—gentle brush and powerful suction—that has proved its ability to clean without doing damage to rugs and carpets. The brush is not driven by the motor. It revolves slowly, as you push the cleaner. It does not tear the nap of rugs or carpets. It merely straightens the nap and lifts threads, etc., into a position where they can be caught and whisked into the bag by the powerful suction. You can clean everything in the house with the Ohio.

The automatic dust valve

When the motor of the Ohio stops, an automatic dust valve closes, preventing any dirt from falling back from the bag onto the floor. Simple as can be, but it had to be thought of by somebody, and it happened to be thought of by us. It is a patented feature of the Ohio.

Should Be Quarantined

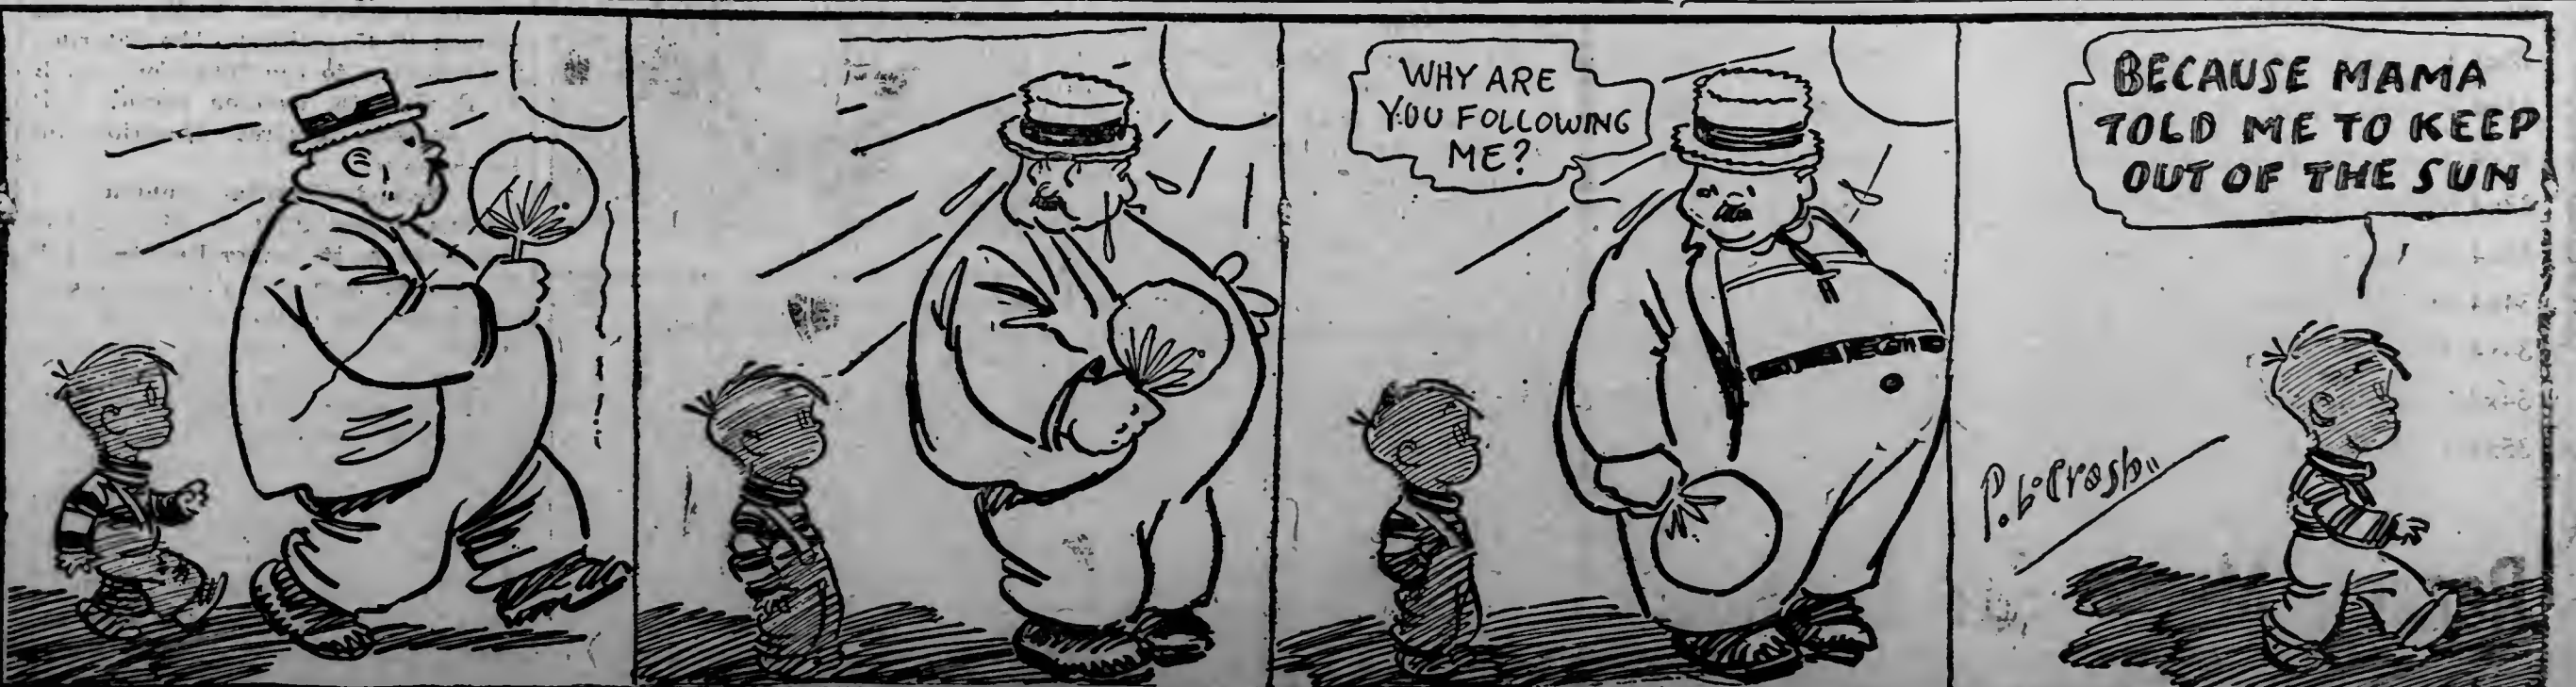

Many physicians believe that anyone who has a bad cold should be completely isolated to prevent other members of the family and associates from contracting the disease, as colds are about as catching as measles. One thing sure—the sooner one rids himself of a cold the less the danger, and you will look a good while before you find a better medicine than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to aid you in curing a cold.

AFTER a baking falls — becomes tough or soggy, you can't make it tender and tempting. It can't be "fixed." It is like spilled milk—"wasted."

But, there is a way to prevent this waste — and every woman should use it—because a bake day loss these days is a real loss. When just an ordinary cake turns out bad—you are out the biggest part of a dollar.

Calumet Baking Powder positively prevents failure. It has been doing it for millions of housewives for a third of a century.

LONDON GIRLS DRINK

Common Sight to See Them Imbibe Liquor in Public.

Many Under 21, Without Any Escorts, Test Merits of Restaurant Wine Lists.

London.—It is no unusual sight in London nowadays to see a young girl with her hair in a plait ordering wine in restaurants or in public houses, or venturing into a wine house for sherry or burgundy. London blames this condition on the war, when London women, deprived of male escorts, had to go on exploring trips alone and discover the merits of the wine lists.

By this it should not be imagined that it is a usual thing with all the young girls of London to drink wine with their meals or to drink it at all. However, it is only necessary to make a survey of the restaurants, the wine houses and public houses in the West End to discover many girls less than eighteen years of age there taking stout or wine. Many of these places discourage custom from girls who are unattended by men or older women, and this is sending them into the restaurants, where they can obtain wine with their meals. Indeed, in London today girls of eighteen may be seen drinking liquors which not very long ago one seldom saw a woman under thirty years of age drinking.

A social worker discussing this situation in the Daily Chronicle declared that it should be made impossible for a woman under twenty-one years old to buy liquor.

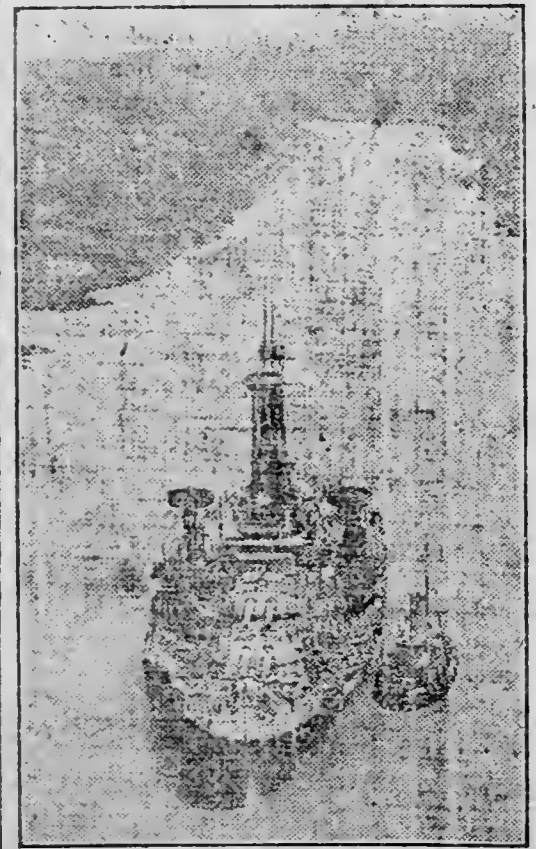

"Probably the desire of young girls for wine arises from bad feeding," she said. "Many business girls arise so late in the morning that they have not time for a good breakfast before they start for work. At luncheon time they feel tired and out of sorts, and then they think that they need a stimulant. What they really need is better food, outdoor exercise and plenty of rest. Perhaps I am old-fashioned, but I don't like to see girls with their hair down ordering wine in restaurants."

FOREIGN TRADE ADVISER

Wesley Frost, who has been appointed foreign trade adviser under the state department, succeeding Julius C. Law, resigned. During the war Mr. Frost was American consul at Queens-town and was one of the consular officers who rendered good service to the government, as a great part of the most valuable evidence of submarine attacks and other acts of the German government was collected by these officers.

NO HOG CHOLERA IN MADISON COUNTY

While hog cholera is reported in various other counties, Madison is free from the dread affliction, according to the statements of local veterinarians. The disease has appeared recently, it is reported, in various parts of the state, but not to an alarming extent. There is little vaccination at this time, it is said, and it is believed the decrease in this work is due to the low price of stock. One of the local veterinarians reports that there are precautions being taken by owners of fancy stock, but "common herd" is taking a chance on disease to a great extent. A report from the state veterinarian's office is to the effect that there has been a cure discovered for blackleg among cattle, the first ever known. While this disease is prevalent in other sections, reports are to the effect that there are no signs of it in any part of the county, as far as is known. Livestock generally, it is reported, is unusually free from disease.

Mrs. Carrie Long, 352 Fifth st., Richmond, says: "I few years ago I was down with kidney trouble, and for two months I couldn't straighten my back or turn in bed. I was helpless and every time I moved, the pains were so severe that I would scream. My limbs and joints were swollen and stiff. I had a dizzy swimming sensation in my head and objects seemed to float before my eyes. My kidneys were weak and caused distress, I tried all sorts of medicines with no relief. Finally I took Doan's Kidney Pills and they soon cured me of every sign of the trouble. I was able to do my work and my back was well and strong."

"I'LL BE A TAILOR" JOHN KEATON SAYS

"I'm going to be a tailor," writes John Keaton, from state prison at Frankfort. "For I am learning fast and have charge of a part of the cutting out of shirts. There is much to do here and I am getting along very well."

Keaton, who was eager to begin his sentence of two years for killing Robert Powell at the carnival some time ago when he found the young man in company with his wife, believes that he will make as good a record at Frankfort as he did on the farm near Richmond, which has been his home since boyhood. Keaton, who was one of a number of prisoners to go from this county after last term of circuit court, declared he would be a model prisoner and advices from Frankfort are that he is making good. Already a number of his friends at home here have started a petition, asking the governor to pardon him and it is understood that it is being numerously signed.

FROM LIQUOR TO BASKET MAKING

Rockcastle County Revives Old Industry Which, Old Residents Say, Is Proving Good

The men of the hills of Rockcastle county have turned their attention to a safer, if not as profitable business than whisky making according to one Peter Ingram, a native of Pine Hill, Ky. They were a new variety, being made of white ash, and guaranteed for 50 years, and much longer. They have been known, old residents say, to do that very thing, even with rough usage. These baskets used to be made before the whisky trade became so lucrative. In later years, they disappeared and there was more whisky. Now the persistent and successful efforts of the federal men have resulted in the return to the primitive, so to speak, and the baskets are reaching the city and there is a ready sale for the baskets bringing from $1 to $3.

Hill did not come with mule and cart. He came in a seven passenger car and stated they were as common in his county, where the roads would admit of their travel as the proverbial fly. He should know, for he has been a maker of baskets for more than a score of years. "The men are getting back to honest work, and I am glad of it," said Ingram, in speaking of the situation. He said whisky was more difficult to get every day and he expressed the wish that the time would soon come when it would be impossible to get it at all.

THOUGHT ONE CLEAN SHIRT ALL HE NEEDED

"Ten years ago I was reduced to a mere shadow. I was yellow as a gold piece and would often be huddled up with most excruciating pains in my stomach. Physicians could only relieve me with morphine. I was advised to try May's Wonderful Remedy and it helped me at once. A friend said he thought one more clean shirt all I would ever need." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. THREE BIG STILLS TAKEN IN FIRST RAID

Three big moonshine stills were seized and destroyed by prohibition officers in Louisville homes in the first series of raids conducted by H. R. Saffley, the new prohibition chief for the Western District of Kentucky. One was a 90-gallon affair, at Southern Avenue and the Cane Run road; Parkland and the other two in a house at 1018 Baxter Avenue, those being of 45-gallons capacity each.

The ninety-gallon still, in full operation, the largest ever found in or around Louisville, was seized at 1 o'clock by Prohibition Officers Hamilton, Marquett, Russell, Bosler, Samuels and Whitaker. It was necessary for the officers to wait some time before they could handle the still which had to be destroyed owing to the fact that it was too large to bring to the Federal building. Three hundred gallons of mash and fifteen gallons of moonshine were also destroyed.

In the other house fifty empty cases, which had contained tins of molasses, from which the whisky evidently had been distilled, were found. The stills, which were silo-shaped and of a pattern new to the officers, were destroyed along with four gallons of moonshine. The tip is believed to have come from the employees of the anti-saloon league.

KENTUCKY GEOLOGICAL SURVEY INTERESTING

Frankfort, Dec. 10.—Interest in the geological formations of Kentucky is widespread according to a report just issued by director W. R. Jilson, of the Kentucky Geological Survey. During the eight months from April 1 to Nov. 20th, three thousands geological survey maps were sent out, many of them to persons outside Kentucky. Eight thousand one hundred and thirty-three letters were received and answered and 400 persons called at the office in the old capitol building for information.

The department, since its organization in 1854, according to the director, has made complete geographic, geologic and soil maps of 65 Kentucky counties. Fifty-five are yet to be completed.

Prominent Western Man Praises Tanlac

G. W. Logan, Reabody, Kansas.

"Tanalac has completely restored my health and I feel finer than in years," was the straightforward statement made recently by Mr. George W. Logan, of Reabody, Kansas, one of the most prominent stock dealers in the middle west.

"It has not only made a new man of me but I have actually gained thirty-five pounds in weight and feel as well as I ever did in my life. I am telling all of my friends about Tanlac but they can see for themselves what it has done in my case."

"When I began taking Tanlac I was in an awful run down condition. I was away off in weight, felt weak and nervous all of the time and couldn't take any interest in my work or anything else."

My main trouble was indigestion. Nothing seemed to agree with me. At times I would have dizzy spells and at other times my back would ache so bad that I could hardly get up and down in my chair. This is just the condition I was in when I started to take this medicine. I took six bottles to make a well man of me. I now have a fine appetite, everything tastes good and my digestion is perfect.

"My wife was also troubled with indigestion at times and it relieved her the same way. You may publish my statement wherever you like and if anyone doubts it, just tell them see me."

Tanalac is sold in Richmond by Stockton and L. S. in College Hill by Carter Brothers; in Berea by Welch Department Stores. "It

Makes You Feel Lazy and Discouraged. You Get Nothing Done

PEPTO-MANGAN PURIFIES

Tune Up Your Blood With It. Notice the Difference With Rich Red Blood in Your Veins.

The man or woman or the child with a sickly-looking complexion, a pale wan face, has blood that is filled with poison. Instead of rich red blood coursing through their veins, they are trying to get along with blood that is weak and thin. It doesn't carry life-giving qualities through the body. You see those men and women every day. They are so tired. Their shoulders droop. They slouch. It is all they can do to get around. As soon as you begin to feel that way take Pepto-Mangan, the well known blood tonic. It will clear away the poisons and make your blood rich with red corpuscles.

Pepto-Mangan is prepared in both liquid and tablet form. One has the same medicinal value as the other. Take either you prefer. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan—"Gude's," full name—"Gude's Pepto-Mangan" should be on the package. It

NOBEL PRIZE WINNER'S ROMANTIC STORY

(By Associated Press)
New York, Dec. 10—Knut Hamsun, of Larvik, Norway, former Chicago street car motorman, who today receives the $48,000 Nobel prize for literature, has had as adventurous a career as ever befell any of his Viking forefathers.

Fifty-year-old poet mystic and recluse, at the height of his fame, Hamsun, six months ago was practically unknown outside of Scandinavia. He was born in Gulbrandsdal on August 4, 1859 and while working as a young shoemaker apprentice, wrote some little poems which showed him to possess a most original and peculiar style.

Young Hamsun did not take kindly to pecking sales and, longing for adventure, shipped as a cabin boy at Christmas and came to the United States. Subsequently he became a miner, clerk in a store and a Chicago motorman. Fellow countrymen who knew him in America at that time said that he wrote occasional sketches and poems and showed marked tendencies toward atheism and anarchism. Stricken with what he believed to be a fatal illness, Hamsun abandoned his radical ideas and for a short time, pursued the study of religious mysticism.

The author's bitter experiences in America seem to have schooled him for the famous man of letters he was later to become. Always homesick for his native land, he finally reached Copenhagen penniless and alone. So distressing was his plight that he found lodgings in a garret and sought to starve himself to death. He longed to die and yet the instinct for self preservation forbade his entering the Great Unknown. It was during this great life and death struggle that Hamsun wrote his now world-renowned sketch entitled "Hunger," which printed in a Danish paper, placed its author in the first rank of Scandinavian writers.

Success came to him overnight as it were, and the next morning Scandinavians were acclaiming him as their greatest living poet. In spite of this adulation, Hamsun held himself aloof from society and tried to escape all worldly honors. He sought retirement in a hut in the forest near Gulbrandsdal and when admirers tried to find him there he went further north to the almost inaccessible little farm where he had lived as a child.

Among the notable contributions to literature by this Norwegian genius are his novels entitled "Mysteries," "Editor Lange" and the love story called "Pan." Other writings are his book "Hunger to the Young," a defiance of old age; his eccentric work, "A Wanderer Plunges With a Sledge," his satire of the drama, "Cotton by the Devil," the trilogy "At the Door of the Wealthy," "Queen Tamar," said to be his best drama, and "Munken Vedt," a picture of the life of a delinquent theologian.

Hamsun in all his writings for the theater it is said, has shown contempt of dramatic art and technique. His novels have been called "an olla podrida of rude realism, dreamy mysticism and impulsive sentiment." He has been credited with a fine sense of phantasy and a penetrating intellect in exposing the weaknesses of modern life.

Big Minstrel Seat Sale

Friday morning the seats for the American Legion minstrels were placed on sale, and the house with the exception of a very few seats, was soon sold out. This was for the first or Tuesday night performance. The seats for Thursday night will be reserved beginning Saturday morning and indications are they will soon be taken. One of the members of the Legion stated Friday there would perhaps have to be the third performance given in order to accommodate all who desired to attend.

River Traffic Reviving

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Ky., Dec. 10—Two tow boats lashed to barges carrying more than 10,000 tons of steel bound from Pittsburg to New Orleans, are afloat on America's inland waterways—the Ohio and Mississippi rivers—indicating to a degree, rivermen say, the greatest revival of river traffic since 1887.

Curiously enough, one of the reasons for it is that it is a time saver, notwithstanding the greater distance than by rail. Favorable differences in freight rates and shortage of railroad cars also enter into the situation while completion of locks and dams are expected to give the traffic greater assurance of stability, and more ease of operation.

ESTILL SHINERS AWAY FROM LIQUOR

About 60 days ago, down in Estill county, north of Old Landing, Burlin Lynch sat on a log and sipped beer made at a nearby still. He was greeted by Federal Officers who asked him to "come along." Burlin, taken by surprise, obeyed. He has been serving a sentence of 30 days for manufacturing intoxicants contrary to the laws of the State, according to the finding by the jury in the U. S. Federal Court, and was handed this sentence. Lynch has been spending his time in the Madison county jail and is reported as having been a modern prisoner. "You won't find me sitting on a log sippin' beer the next time Federal officers come around," was his comment as he took his departure from jail. He admitted it was bad weather, but preferred to be on the outside looking out, and departed for his home. He said he had been well treated at the jail.

You want a Battery that fits

"You're right. You can't put a short, fat battery into a long slim box in your car. Then you want a battery with terminals that will shake hands like old acquaintances with your car's wiring terminals.

"But the main thing is to give you a battery with the right capacity to work in harmony with your car's electrical system. Your cutting-in-speed counts—that's the speed at which your generator begins to do business—and the number of amperes it feeds into the battery. Those are just some of the conditions your battery must work under. What it all means is that you want a battery of the right capacity to digest the current fed into it and to handle its work without strain.

"We have EXIDE batteries in all sizes and type to replace batteries of all makes. But we won't sell a battery if your old one is repairable. No matter what its make, if its plates are still sound enough, we'll rejuvenate and guarantee it."

If your battery needs recharging, phone 428—we call for and deliver your battery. We also have rental batteries for use while yours are being recharged or repaired.

VENTILATION OF HEN HOUSE

For Success With Poultry There Must Be an Abundance of Fresh Air Without Drafts.

Poultry raisers have come to realize that the ventilation of the poultry house is a very important matter. There must be an abundance of fresh air without extreme heat or cold, and without dampness and draft. Proper conditions cannot be had with the makeshift, wrongly used ventilators frequently employed.

One method, which has proved successful is to use the straw air strainer. A second ceiling is built about six inches below the regular ceiling, in the form of a latticed framework. A trapdoor in the center of this makes it possible to change the straw which is packed between the lattice and the original ceiling. Vents, or wide, low

Splendid Cough Medicine

"I feel that every family should know what a splendid medicine Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is. I am only pleased to relate my experience and only wish that I had known of its merits years ago," writes Mrs. Clay Fry, Ferguson Station, Mo. "I give it to my children when they show the slightest symptoms of being croupy, and when I have a cough or cold on the lungs a very few doses will relieve me, and by taking it for a few days I soon get rid of the cold."

CASCARETS

"They Work while you Sleep"

openings, must be cut in the side of the house as close under the eaves as possible. The air, entering at these vents, filters through the straw, and thus into the poultry house. No drafts are possible, and the temperature is kept very nearly constant. The straw also absorbs a great deal of moisture.

Another method, in rather wide use, is to cover an ordinary window frame with muslin, instead of using glass. An improvement on this type of ventilator is shown at the right of the drawing. A light wooden frame covered with muslin is hung from a wire, which serves as a track. The frame can thus be moved sideways over or away from the window opening. Screw eyes on the frame allow it to slide easily over the wire. The wire itself may be fastened either to screw eyes or over blocks at either end. To the left is shown a similar frame, moving up and down. In this case it will be necessary to arrange some means of holding the frame at the height desired. Either the pegs that fit into holes in the wall, or a hook fitting into screw eyes, placed at various heights in the wall, may be used for this purpose.

The advantage of the air strainers over muslin-covered frames is that the latter have to be adjusted accurately to the weather, while the air strainer requires no attention whatever.—J. T. Bartlett, Fort Collins, Colo., in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Poultry Will Sell for Higher Price Per Pound Because of Increase in Weight.

If any stock is to be sent to market be sure that it is fattened well before it is shipped. It will pay to do this because the poultry will sell for a higher price per pound and it will weigh more.

POULTRY NOTES

Call out weak or slow growing chicks.

A larger flock of hens could be kept on many farms at a profit.

Water fowls do not receive the consideration they deserve on many farms.

Leghorns produce eggs more cheaply than hens of the general purpose breeds.

Don't forget to give the fowls a little salt in some form every day. They like their food seasoned as well as we do. Pepper as well as salt.

Boarders in the shape of lice and mites on fowls are unnecessary. The energy absorbed by these parasites will never go into eggs and meat.

Noted Chair Maker Will Repair Chairs

The chairs in the jury and other rooms in the Madison county court house use, which have seen service for years are to be repaired—to receive white ash bottoms. The contract was let to Peter Ingram, of Pine Hill, Ky., as expert at the business. He will come to Richmond and do the work here. Ingram insists that the chair bottoms will last as long as any of the jurors or anyone else connected with the court, asserting that the chairs will last for a period of 100 years. He claims there are chairs in use in his home which have been in the family for four generations. It was decided this was the kind of work to have done, if effectiveness was to be considered. The chairs will be ready for use in a short time.

The judgment was set aside and a new trial ordered.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James M. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be freed from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind, he consulted physicians. Made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. All druggists have been appointed agents for Allen-rub in this vicinity with the understanding that he will freely return the purchase price on the first two bottles to all who state they received no benefit.
